

Unit Name: Inclusive Learning Through Drama

Stage: 3

Lesson name: Script Writing

Duration: 60 - 90 Minutes

Lesson Overview

Students will discuss how dramatic stories are created, focusing on creating tension and resolution. Students use critical and creative thinking skills to develop different characters using voice skills, movement and gesture within a specific context. Students will gain knowledge in playbuilding and script writing while building empathy by ‘walking in the shoes of another person’. Students will examine their power and responsibility in creating an inclusive community.

Lesson Outcomes

A student will learn to:

- take on a range of roles challenging character stereotypes, depicting empathy, different and contrasting attitudes and status
- negotiate and sustain roles and their relationships in shaping the action
- interpret a dramatic context through the use of a combination of various drama forms, e.g. improvisation, movement, mime, storytelling, puppetry, mask, video drama and play building
- devise, rehearse and act in drama using voice and movement skills to convey meaning to an audience.

A student will learn about:

- recognising personal, social and cultural aspects of the human experience, and incorporating them in drama works
- forming and communicating opinions about a range of drama works created by themselves and others
- evaluating drama performances in order to reflect upon and enhance their own drama work and the work of others.

Syllabus Outcomes

Teaching, Learning and Assessment

DRAMA Making DRAS3.2 Interprets and conveys dramatic meaning by using the elements of drama and a range of movement and voice skills in a variety of drama forms. Performing DRAS3.3 Devises, acts and rehearses drama for performance to an audience. Appreciating DRAS3.4 Responds critically to a range of drama works and performance styles.	TEACHING Warm-up: Creating a Story <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The teacher leads a class discussion about what makes a story interesting. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - What are some of your favourite stories? e.g. movies, books, cartoons etc. - Who can think of a story and tell me what happens? - Can you tell me what the beginning, the middle and the end of the story are? - Why is a story made like this? 2. Teacher displays page one of Creating a Story Visual. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - What do you think is happening in this story? - What do you think the black line represents here? 3. Teacher changes display to page two and reads the story outline. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Is this what you thought the story was about? Why/Why not? - What did you notice about the structure of the story? 4. Students can attempt to write a short story of their own using the Creating a Story Template. LEARNING Group Activity: Making a Performance <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students form groups of 3-4. 2. Each student is given a Drama Character Card and the corresponding Drama Character Card Biography. 3. Students read through these to get an insight into their character. 4. Teacher provides groups with a Drama Scenario Card/Drama Scenario Card - Printer Friendly. 5. In groups, students are to talk about their scenario and establish who their characters are in the scene. Students have to imagine their character in the drama context. 6. Students use Creating a Drama Context Cards/Creating a Drama Context Cards- Printer Friendly to help develop characters and storyline. 7. Students then create a 2-minute performance/script by using Drama Performance Planner. Teacher Note: The Drama Performance Planner will need to be kept for the following lesson. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 8. Groups also can have the option to plan their performance by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - writing - drawing - creating a storyboard - making a picture collage using a device - written in language students feel comfortable with and using applications such as OneNote and to be translated in real time Reflection:

	Once the students have created a script, ask them to think about their characters in the story they have created. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Can all characters participate the same way in the scenario? - If not, what can you change in your script to make sure everyone can participate? - Do you think all characters feel the same in the situation? - Can you identify any successes and challenges characters might face in this scene in relation to access to the environment or interaction with other characters? (e.g. a character could feel left out of the soccer game due to having a broken ankle). - How can this be addressed, and how can you make adjustments for each character? (e.g. the soccer game could be changed to a throwing game to include the character with a broken ankle). - If a character does not look or sound like you, do you think they would act, feel or think the same as you in this situation? - If this was a real world situation, whose responsibility would it be to make sure everyone is included and feels comfortable? 9. Students have 15 minutes to revise and rehearse their performances. 10. Each group presents their performance to the class. 11. After each performance the audience is asked: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - What worked well (WWW)..... - Even Better if (EBI)..... Extension Activity: Students can write or record a personal reflection about their performances, how they worked as a group and what could be improved upon. ASSESSMENT No formal assessment has been provided for this activity.
Adaptations, Considerations and/or Adjustments Note: Think about how this lesson may affect students in your class and make any of these adaptations that you feel necessary.	Physical: Allow students to choose a character they feel comfortable acting out. Assist groups to scaffold performances conducive to any students with mobility requirements. Vision: Provide large font version of resources Creating a Story Visual, Creating a Story Template, Drama Scenario Card, Creating a Setting Cards and Drama Performance Planner. The Drama Character Cards - Large Print, and Drama Character Card Biographies - Large Print, Character Card Biographies - Simplified Version - Large Print are already offered in large print versions. Describe story structure visuals verbally highlighting the beginning, middle and end. Have students provide narration performances. Ensure that in groups all students describe their characters and read biographies out loud (teacher may have to read students for them).

	Hearing: Provide Script Writing - Language Support throughout lesson for clarification. Teacher can write up discussion answers on board for students to follow. Provide students with each group's visual storyboards to follow along with. Sensory: Create a space in the classroom that gives students a 'break' from constant environmental stimulants. Have a quiet area in which particular groups can plan their performances. Non-verbal: Support students' preferred ways of communication. Incorporate technology or devices in group discussion and ask targeted closed questions, provide specific role in group work, e.g. scribe or organiser. Assist groups in scaffolding performance that incorporates non-verbal characters. EAL/D: Provide Script Writing - Language Support throughout lesson for clarification. Teacher can write up discussion answers on board for students to follow. Provide the EAL/D versions of resources such as Drama Character Card Biographies - Simplified Version. Other: For performance refusal or avoidance, allow students alternative ways of performing or being involved such as grouping students in pairs with someone they feel comfortable working with. Allow groups to record themselves and then present it to the class.

Creating a Story

Beginning

One day, Lena was outside enjoying the sunshine. She liked the warm weather and wanted to go for a walk.

Middle

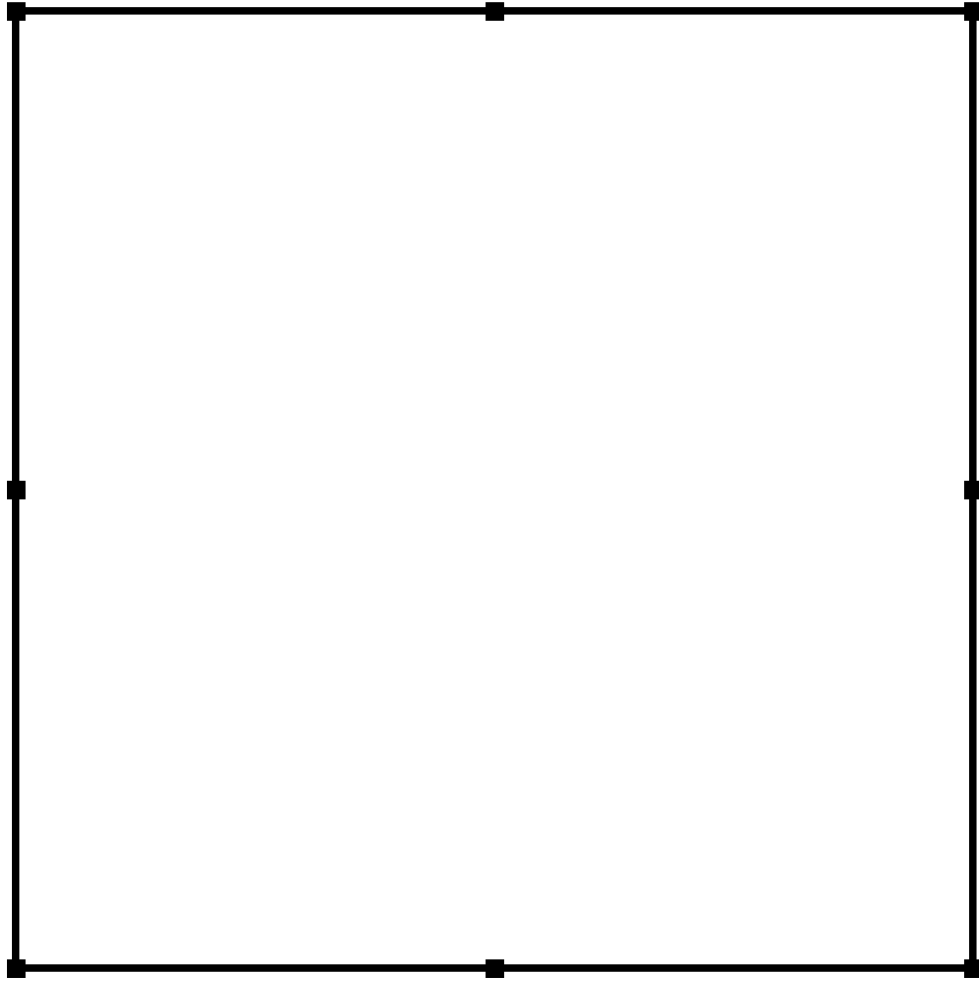

Suddenly, a huge storm came along. She was drenched with water and it was almost too windy to stand still. She was worried that she could not find her way home.

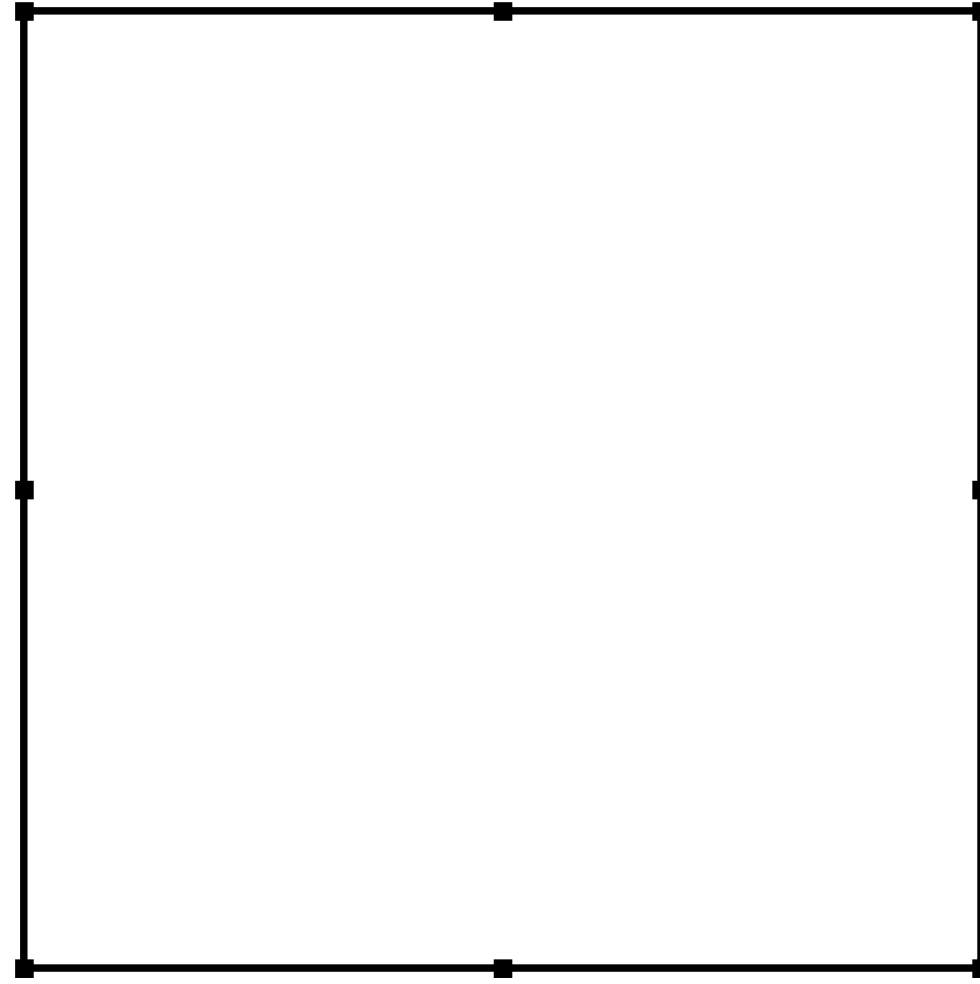

End

Luckily, her wonderful friend Maggie appeared with an umbrella and raincoat. Lena was so happy to have a friend like Maggie to help her. They gazed at the rainbow and danced in the puddles all day long.

Create a short dramatic performance (2 minutes).

In this performance, create a storyline that has a beginning, middle and end. Make sure the middle has something big that happens and it is resolved in the end.

Use this planning sheet to:

- identify your focus
- brainstorm ideas
- create a storyboard script
- make notes about props and costumes.

Script Writing

Activity 1:

1. Let's talk about stories!
 - What are some of your favourite stories?
 - Who can think of a story and tell me what happens?
 - Can you tell me what the beginning, the middle and the end of the story are?
 - Why is a story made like this?

Picture 1:

- What do you think is happening in this story?
- What do you think the black line represents here?

Picture 2:

- Is this what you thought the story was about? Why/Why not?
 - What did you notice about the structure of the story?
2. Now try to write your own story on the piece of paper.

Activity 2:

1. Get into a group of 3-4.
2. Look at the character card given to you and read their biography.
3. Your group will get a scenario.
4. Talk about your scenario and decide who your characters are in the scene.
5. Use the prompt questions to plan your performance.
6. Fill out the Drama Performance Planner with your group.

Now let's talk about your script!

- Can all characters participate the same way in the scenario?
 - If not, what can you change in your script to make sure everyone can participate?
 - Do you think all characters feel the same in the situation?
 - Can you identify any successes and challenges characters might face in this scene in relation to access to the environment or interaction with other characters? (e.g. a character could feel left out of the soccer game due to having a broken ankle)
 - How can this be addressed and how can you make adjustments for each character? (e.g. the soccer game could be changed to a throwing game to include the character with a broken ankle).
 - If a character does not look or sound like you, do you think they would act, feel or think the same as you in this situation?
 - If this was the real world situation, whose responsibility would it be to make sure everyone is included and feels comfortable?
7. Your group has 15 minutes to rehearse and change your script.
 8. Perform your play for the class.
 9. After each performance talk about:
 - What worked well (WWW).....
 - Even Better if (EBI).....
