

Support your community after disaster

Become a Casual Recovery Volunteer with Australian Red Cross

How

Unable to volunteer regularly but want to help your community after disasters? Register to do training to provide practical information, emotional support and connections to recovery services. Once training and compliance is met, if an emergency happens you can select available shifts in your local region when a recovery centre opens after the immediate threat passes

Where

We are recruiting casual recovery volunteers in Byron Shire, Clarence Valley, Coffs Harbour, Kempsey Shire, Kyogle, Lismore, Mid-Coast, Nambucca Valley Shire, Richmond Valley Council areas.

Register your interest

If you are 18+, have basic IT skills, compassion for others and want to support your community in disaster recovery scan the QR code or email us on nswrscg_project@redcross.org.au

Support communities to prepare, respond and recover

Become an Emergency Services Volunteer

How

The Emergency Service Volunteer assists before, during and after an emergency.

This role suits volunteers who are committed to maintaining their training so they can step in when emergencies occur to help in evacuation centres and recovery centres, as well as assisting with preparedness and resilience work in the community.

Where

We are recruiting Emergency Services Volunteers across New South Wales.

How to get started

If you're interested in a you can find out more by scanning the QR code.

